You, mumbling trig functions or
French verbs on the way to class.
You, puzzled by your own questions and decisions. You, walking alone in the hall. You, with something somewhere deep within you. . .

Maybe today will give you the answer;
Maybe today, in a smile's warmth or a voice from within, the clouds will lift, leaving YOU. . .

You, wondering, questioning,
speaking, seeing, observing,
giving, feeling, sensing,

You, a reason why.

SCHOOL

Mr. J. Frank Hillyard, Principal

The office is the center of the school's activity. It is here that one obtains an excuse blank whether it be for absence, tardiness, or early dismissal. Here also are kept the permanent records of all the students in Broadway High School. Students may buy school supplies in the office before school begins or during their lunch period. The office somewhat resembles a small bank in that all money transactions are carried on here. When one has a problem, he may either consult Mr. Hillyard or one of the guidance counselors. Mrs. Branner, Mr. Eye, and Mrs. Wampler are available throughout the day to assist the students with various problems. They counsel underclassmen about the best subjects for the coming year and seniors on colleges and careers.

Mrs. Betty Harrison, Secretary, in her efficient, personal manner, assists Jane Fadley.

ADMINISTRATION

Benjamin Franklin once said that when he was a boy he thought his father had some silly ideas. Later, when Benjamin became a man, he said he was surprised how much his father had learned in so few years.

When a student first comes to Broadway High he often feels the same way about Mr. Hillyard. Too often it takes an upperclassman to recognize and appreciate the honor, dignity, understanding, and interest that Mr. Hillyard embodies.

ENGLISH

Mrs. Rebecca Branner

Mrs. Joy Clougherty

Miss Betty Driver

L. C. Hutton, forensic participant, prepares for public speaking eliminations.

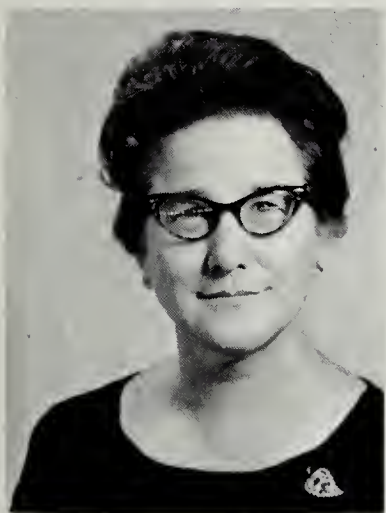

DEPARTMENT

Miss Georgeanna Driver

Mr. Allen Stoltzfus

Mrs. Nellie Wampler

Mrs. Branner patiently explains a layout technique to Robert Pye and Lynda Lee.

English is required for four years by the State Board of Education as a prerequisite for graduation. English 9 and 10 stress grammar fundamentals and an overall view of world literature such as mythology, the short story, and the novel. English 11 involves public speaking, research, and a study of American literature. A thorough look at English literature and the more advanced aspects of grammar form the course for English 12. Writing is a basic part of the four year English program here at Broadway High.

English literature is an integral part of English Twelve as witnessed by Mrs. Wampler's class.

SCIENCE

And some call it leaf collecting!

Mrs. Mary Stuart Bell

Mr. Dale L. Keener

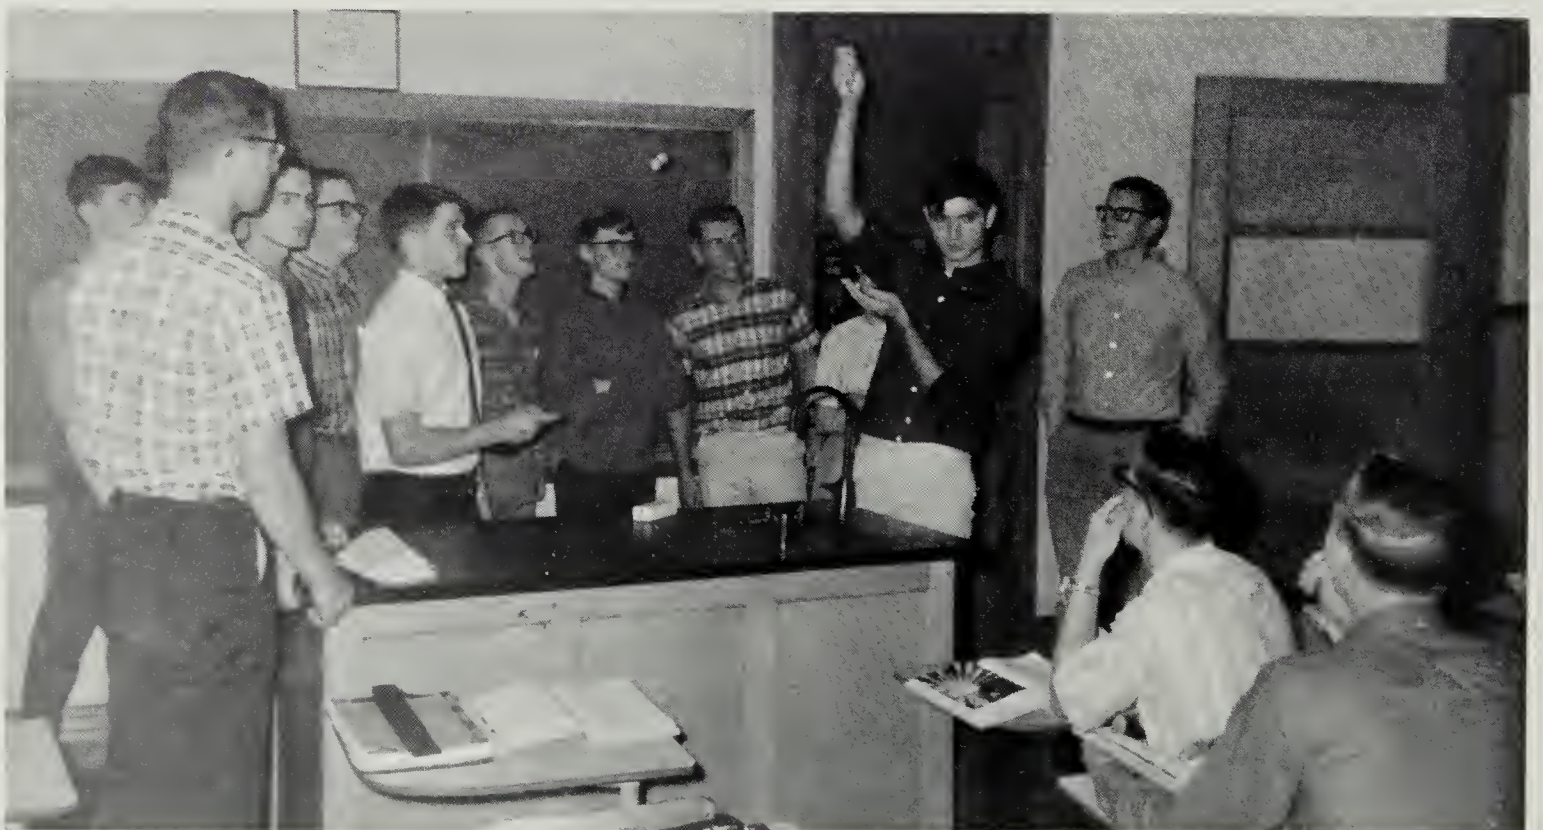

Mr. Wayne L. Myers

Mrs. Charlotte H. Ridings

Hollis Showalter and Andy Middleton demonstrate centrifugal force in Mr. Jones' third period physics.

Biology classes explore the insides of organisms.

Broadway High School offers a variety of science courses. A student first takes general science, in which he gains a general knowledge about many sciences. Through general science he determines whether or not he wants to study a more advanced branch of science. He next takes biology, the study of plants and animals. He concludes his years at Broadway with either chemistry, which deals with the composition of substances, or physics, which deals with the states and properties of matter and energy.

Dennis Turner prepares hydrochloric acid for Mrs. Ridings' science class.

Chemistry students apply their knowledge in the lab.

BUSINESS

Mrs. Betty S. Gentry

Mrs. Viola R. Sager

Mrs. Betty Anne Strother

An everyday sound heard coming from the business department is the peck peck of typewriters or the familiar voice of the shorthand teacher dictating business letters to future stenographers. The bookkeeping classes actually keep a set of books for a given firm for a certain period of time.

Cozetta Johnson puts a dictaphone to work in Typing II.

ART

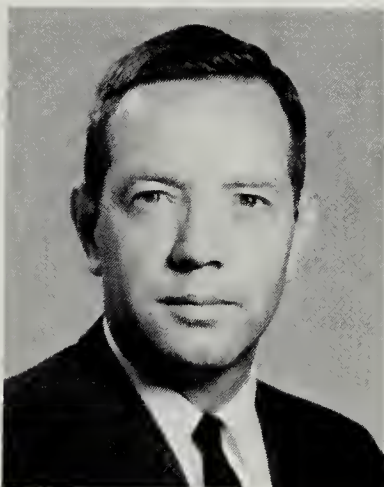

Mrs. Billie Campbell, hired to replace Mrs. Coffman who retired at the end of the first semester after forty years of teaching, gives her art classes a lesson in clay working.

Mrs. Bernice Coffman

Art deepens the appreciation of beauty. Students develop their talent and creativity. They do pencil sketches of various kinds, and use water colors and oil for their paintings. They learn to weave rugs, and carve objects from soap and wood.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

Mr. William Butcher

Robert Donovan on the job at the Sinclair Station in Harrisonburg.

Distributive Education students attend school only until noon; for the remainder of the day most of the students have jobs on which they apply what they have learned in class. They study various retail problems: salesmanship, advertising, store operations, and stock control.

MATHEMATICS

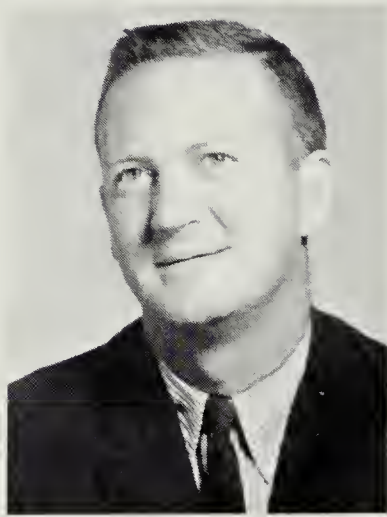

Mathematics is a group of sciences dealing with quantities, sizes, forms, and their relationships by the use of numbers and symbols. The branches of mathematics are some of the most fascinating subjects in our school. Students begin their mathematical studies with either General Math or Algebra I. As they progress, they take Geometry. Next comes Algebra II and Trigonometry combined. Some seniors end their years at Broadway High School with a semester of Trigonometry and a semester of analysis.

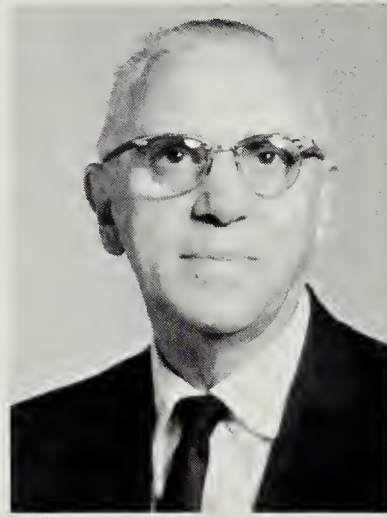

Mr. Paul G. Kline, retiring this year after 42 years of teaching, drills his Algebra class.

Mr. Cecil Hartman

Mr. Joseph Jones

Mr. Paul G. Kline

Mr. Daniel Myers

Donnie Frank, with the use of a smoke tunnel, demonstrates for trigonometry class the flow of air over an airplane wing.

LANGUAGES

Mr. William Kyger

Mrs. Phoebe Orebaugh

Mr. Kyger's Spanish class initiates the language lab.

With the aid of a new language lab, the French and Spanish teachers attempt to teach their students the art of speaking foreign languages. This is the first year for Spanish so there is only one class. French students find the lab is more difficult than the faithful old tape recorder. The Latin students are faced with translating Julius Caesar and the Gallic Wars.

Mrs. Orebaugh, assisted by the language lab, drills Richard Brown, Dennis Turner, and Wylie Walton.

"Wylie Walton to control tower . . ."

AGRICULTURE

Michael Coakley receives his National Rifle Association Safe Hunter Award

Vocational Agriculture provides opportunity for training and experience in activities which lead into the broad field of Agriculture Industry. This includes industries and businesses providing materials and services in the production, processing, and marketing of agriculture products.

It also includes necessary training in vocations not directly related to farming, such as wildlife management, turf management, ornamental horticulture, forestry and park management, and also the care of animals for recreation and pleasure.

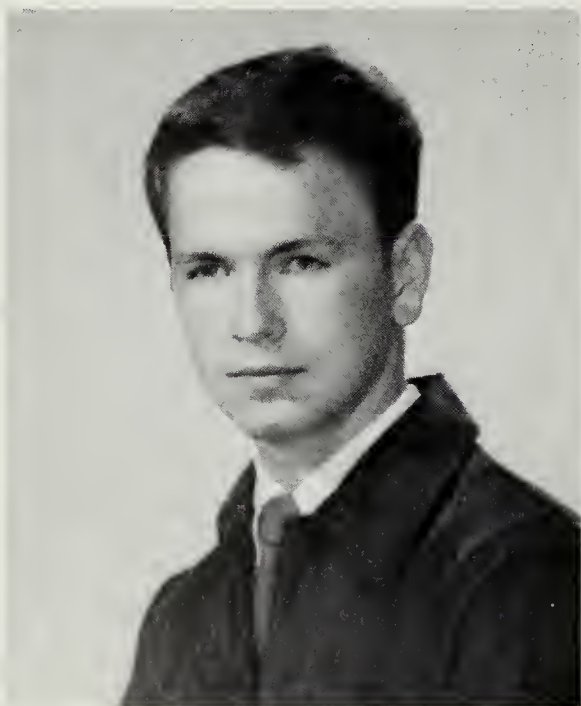

Mr. I. W. Diehl

Mr. Earl Wine

HOME ECONOMICS

But I thought you put the oatmeal in!

Mrs. Catherine Miller

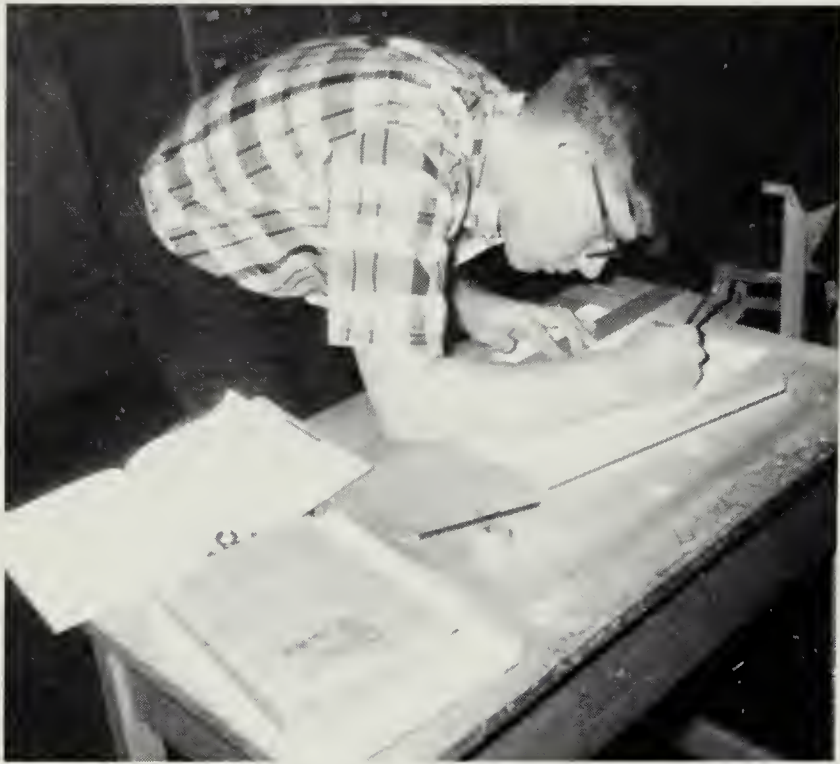

Mrs. Mildred Ryder

The students of home economics learn the essentials of becoming a homemaker. This includes more than cooking and sewing. Besides cooking and baking such foods as salads, casseroles, pastries, and desserts, the students study units on child care, flower arranging, table settings for banquets, buffets, and regular dinners, table etiquette, and sewing various articles of clothing. Improving personal appearance is an important unit in home economics.

There's more than one way to pin a hem!

Bobby Mathias works diligently on a plate for drafting.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Mr. Jesse Bratton

In Shop I the students learn the basic tools, materials, and processes of industry. They file, bore, and drill holes, among other things. Because wood is one of the most abundant resources and is relatively cheap, it is primarily used for work done in Shop I. In Shop II the first semester students, using the same skills, work with metal instead of wood. During second semester they work with electricity.

Drafting is the universal language of industry. Drafting students learn to use the slide rule, make drawings, and read blueprints. Drafting II is like Drafting I except students make their drawings in more detail.

Mr. Carlyle Lynch

Mr. Lynch lectures his drafting class.

MUSIC

Giggling, studying, talking, eating, and yes, playing are all a part of band practice.

Mr. Eddie Branner

Each year a survey is made to determine what the students prefer to study in the field of music. This enables the students to study what they are most interested in. This year they expressed an interest in voice and reading of music. They studied the development of music as well as the many forms and types. The music of the different periods of history was also included. In general the students learned to appreciate the various kinds of music.

"To sing one must be mentally and physically alert"

Mr. Joseph Miller

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Coordination plus!

Mrs. Mary Holm

Miss Bonnie Miller

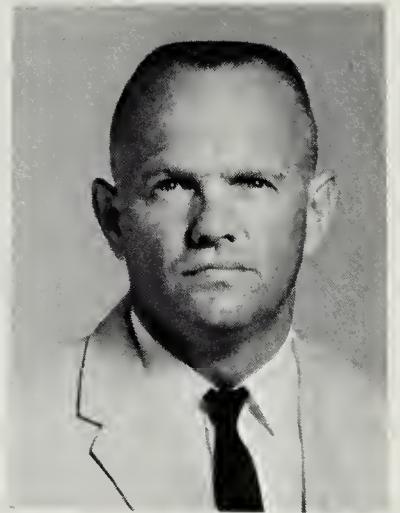

The girls' physical education class is divided into two units—physical and health education. In physical education the girls develop coordination, grace, and skill in the various activities. They are taught good sportsmanship and leadership in team sports. Such team sports include field ball, field hockey, basketball, and volleyball. Other activities are track and field events, stunts and tumbling, dancing, and recreational sports. In health education, they study nutrition, personal hygiene, appearance, and posture, first aid, infectious diseases, and driver education.

BOYS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Two years of physical education are required to graduate. As freshmen, the boys study first aid and drivers' education. The Sophomores study mental health and personal Hygiene. During the first months of school the boys play football. With the coming of winter they turn to volleyball, wrestling, and tumbling. In spring they devote their time to the five-star track program. These sports teach the boys coordination, sportsmanship, and skill. The boys learn to be followers as well as leaders.

SOCIAL SCIENCES

Taking notes is essential in Mrs. Rhodes' government classes

Mr. Walter Eye

Mrs. Lennis Garber

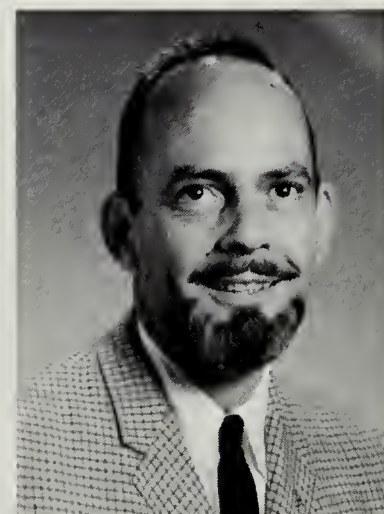

Mr. James Moyers, Jr.

Mrs. Mary Orebaugh

Mrs. Lois Rhodes

Mr. William Woolf

In economics and social problems one studies income, taxes, stock markets, and problems faced by people and industry of today. Civics concerns government and the rights and duties of citizens. United States government is concerned with how our federal government is organized and operated. A study of communism is incorporated in the United States government course. In world history one sees the forces that have molded the world from the beginning of time until present day. In American history one studies the life of the American nation.

LIBRARY

Mrs. Louise G. Showman

There is a vast amount of knowledge contained in the library. The card catalogue assists students in locating information and books needed for research. The books in the reference room aid students who are working on reports and term papers. Students also make much use of the various encyclopedias. There is also a variety of good reading material for both entertainment and enrichment. Contemporary magazines and daily newspapers are available for the student.

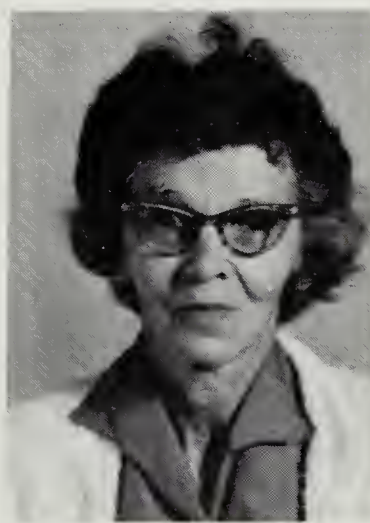

Debbie Wittig explores another world in our library.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

Mrs. Lantz gives her special education class a lesson in banking.

Mrs. Josephine Lantz

Equal educational opportunities are provided for all students, but this does not mean that all can profit from the standard curriculum. Their educational needs vary according to their individual differences. In special education individual needs are met. The classes are small thereby giving the teacher opportunity to work with each pupil.

NON TEACHING PERSONNEL

Early each morning the cooks begin preparing food for all the hungry students at Broadway High.

The job of the janitors is to keep the school clean. At the sight of Margie, the janitor's dog, one knows that the janitor is nearby.

The Broadway High School Band in concert formation

A summer activity of the band—marching in the New Market Firemen's Parade

CONCERT AND MARCHING BAND

The Broadway High School Band provides for students who enjoy music an opportunity to develop their talents by regular practice and participation in public events. The band stimulates school spirit at school assemblies and at football games. During the games lively pep music is played and half-time shows are presented. Each year the band takes part in the District Band Festival and sends its most talented musicians to All District Band. The band plays in the Christmas parade, the firemen's parades, and the spring concert.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB

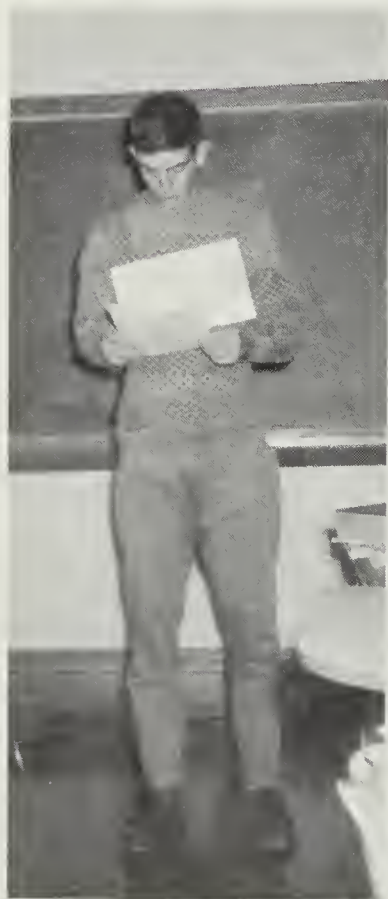

The Lettermen's Club forms the Broadway B

The Lettermen's Club of Broadway High School is an organization which strives to promote better scholastic standing and sportsmanship among its members. The club is composed of boys who have earned a letter in one or more sports during their high school years. A letter may be earned in football, basketball, baseball, or track. The main goal of the Lettermen's Club is to earn enough money from their projects to present a special award to each graduating member.

Not even Lettermen's initiation keeps Bobby Roadcap from class routine

"It's about that Coke I've waited twenty minutes for."

Lettermen slaves Jay Whitmore and Ronnie Holsinger eagerly await the cafeteria treats of Lettermen's initiation.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council was organized to promote co-operation between the student body and faculty, to encourage participation in leadership and good citizenship in democracy, and to increase the spirit and good reputation of our high school. It also encourages participation and co-operation of all students in extra-curricular activities, and represents students and presents their problems to be discussed and cleared of perplexing difficulties. Regular meetings are held on the first Tuesday of every month during the school session. The Student Council consists of one boy and one girl from each eleventh grade and each twelfth grade homeroom and one boy or one girl from each remaining homeroom. It sponsors the Valentine Party and the Football Party, among other things.

"But when will we have the Valentine Party?" seems to be the question Student Council president Ronnie Smith is discussing with vice-president, Nelson Simmers and secretary, Susan Mathias.

Bitty MacCorkle makes her rounds at the Science Fair

An award winning Science Fair exhibit

The Science Club sponsors the Science Fair annually at Broadway in cooperation with the National Science Fair-International. The Science Fair is the most important project undertaken by the Science Club, as it promotes interest in science through the school and the community.

Over 2,000 people visited our annual Science Fair

SCIENCE CLUB

Members of the Science Club look on as the president, Bitty McCorkle, conducts an experiment.

The Science Club of Broadway High School is composed of students who have had or are completing their second year in laboratory science. The Science Club has five main objectives: "To increase knowledge in science; To perfect skills in science; To give service to the community and nation; To understand the importance of science in our lives; To help carry out the program of the Science Clubs of America." The Science Club also cooperates with and gives assistance to the science department at Broadway High.

Pickles, pies, and homemade bread—You name it and our food sales had it.

The Broadway High School Mixed Chorus lifts its voices in song

The Mixed Chorus enables students who enjoy singing to develop their talents and to gain a deeper appreciation for good music. Every year the group presents an operetta; this year it was The Guy from Venus. The group also participates in the District Choral Festival and sends its most talented singers to All-State Chorus. The Mixed Chorus sings at the spring concert, presented at Broadway High School. Religious programs are presented at various local churches by this group.

DRAMATIC CLUB

President—Wylie Walton; Vice-President—Cheryl Mathias; Secretary—Catherine Lloyd; Treasurer—David Loker;

Reporter—Janie Brown; Handbook Editor—Carolyn Wampler

The Dramatic Club is the only means of supplying true dramatic activities at Broadway, since there is no course in speech or drama offered. Each student accepted into the club is responsible for his own interpretation of a character from a selected list of plays. The club participates in the school Christmas program, the District 10 One-Act Play Festival, and the community Easter sunrise service.

GREEN QUILL STAFF

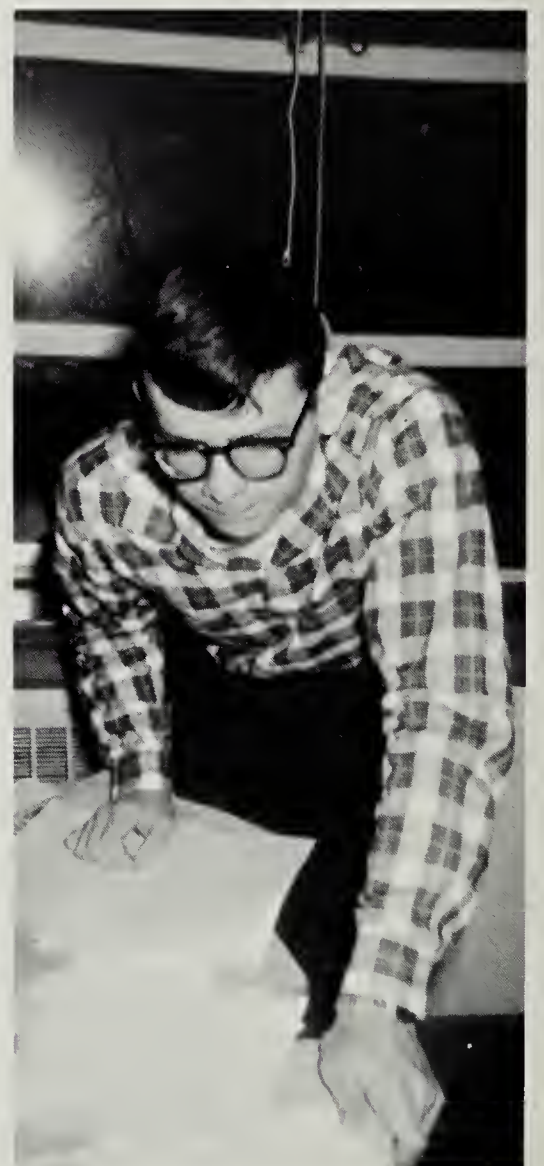

The Green Quill is published five times a year by the Creative English class. The paper provides an outlet for journalistic writing and gives the student a voice in school affairs. Mrs. Rebecca Branner is the faculty advisor.

SAFETY PATROL

The Broadway High School Safety Patrol

The safety patrol is organized to protect students from accidents while they are on their way to and from school. Each bus has a regular patrolman who is appointed by the bus driver and approved by the school principal. This is designed to help children develop sound habits in the use of streets and buses. It tends to foster qualities of leadership and good citizenship in the patrol members themselves. The safety patrol is sponsored by Mr. Kline and holds regular meetings throughout the year.

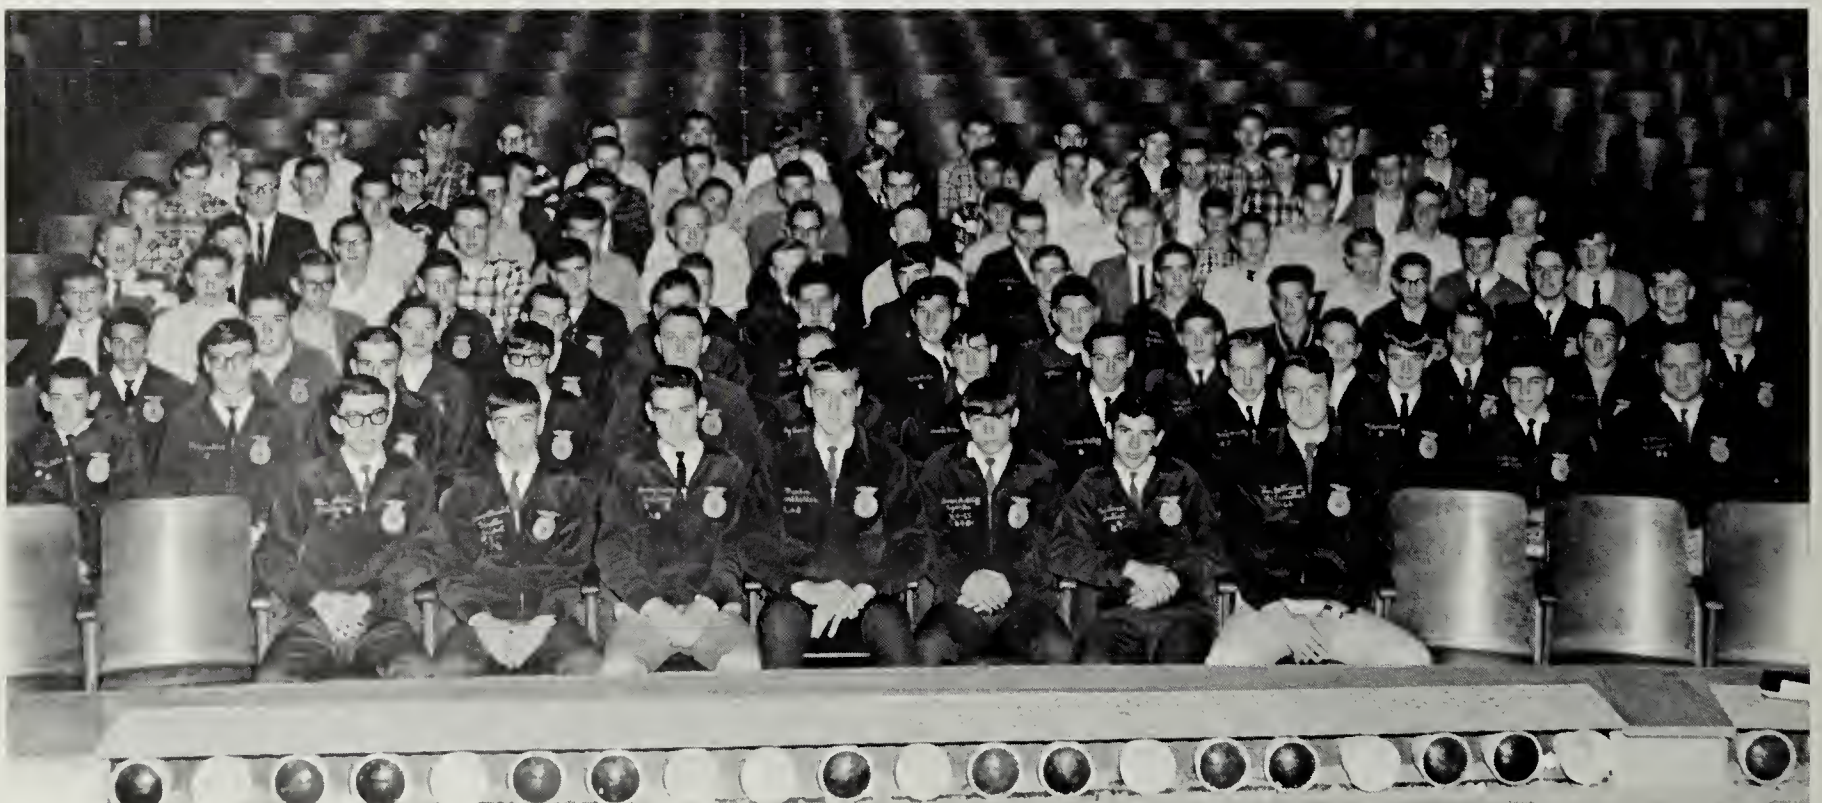

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

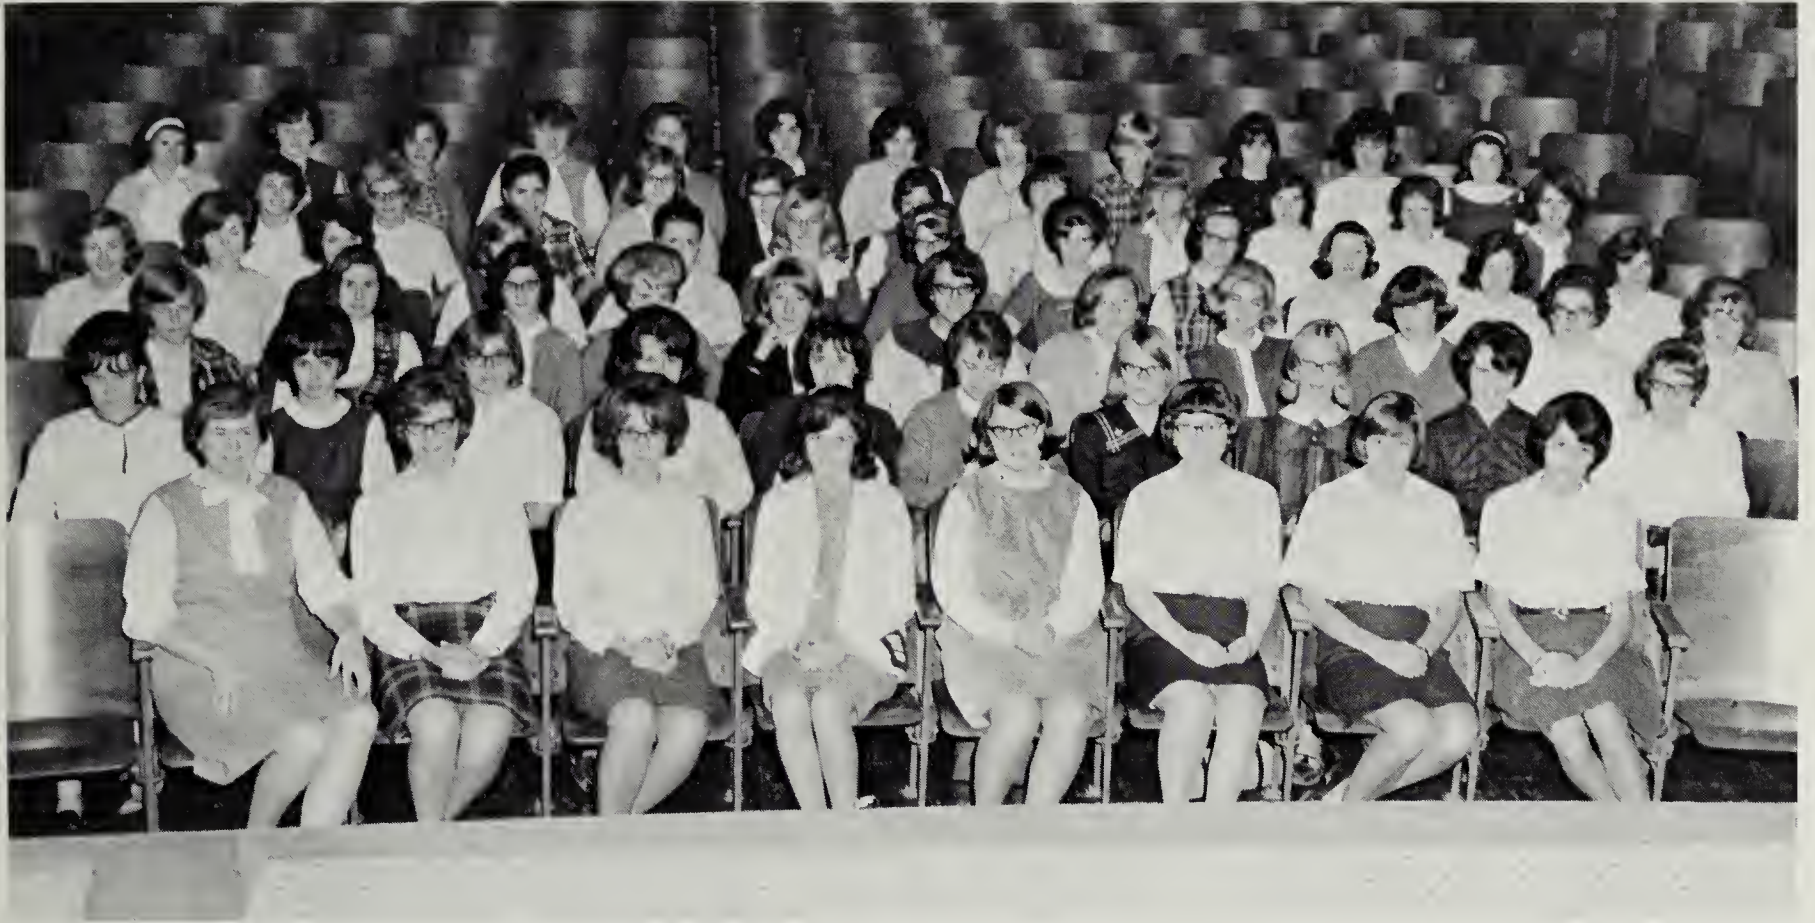

FFA OFFICERS: Allen Ritchie, president; Dee Wayne Messick, vice-president and federation president; Danny Conley, secretary; Marlin Burkholder, treasurer; Carl Turner, sentinel; Delmer Ratliff, reporter; Steve Bollinger, state president

The Broadway chapter of the Future Farmers of America was fortunate this year in having the state president, Steve Bollinger, and the federation president, Dee Wayne Messick, chosen from its members. Among the annual activities of the chapter are a crop and grain show and a participation visit to the Farm Show in Pennsylvania. National FFA Week is also observed each year. There are four degrees of membership in the chapter. They are as follows: Green hand members, chapter farmers, state farmers, and American farmers.

There is more to producing a yearbook than meets the eye. There are seemingly countless details that make an efficient staff imperative. The 1966 Memories Staff has endeavored this year to present the best yearbook its imagination and genius could combine to produce. The staff, striving to approach an old subject from a new angle, filled the annual with unscheduled and impulsive shots that captured the life and spirit of Broadway High not as many would like it to be, but rather as it was. That was good enough for us.

The eight varsity cheerleaders range from sophomores to seniors. Try-outs for cheerleaders are held by the physical education coaches. For being a cheerleader each girl receives a high school letter which represents their hard work in keeping up the morale of the team. They organize and lead pep rallies before important games to boost school spirit. This year the cheerleaders undertook a project to raise money toward the purchase of new cheerleading outfits.

Susan Gladwell leads her cheerleading-friends in a cheer at an after-school practice.

The punch that refreshes!

American Education Week is sponsored by the Student Council of Broadway High School. Promoting an interest in education is its main objective. One night during this week parents are invited to attend school as pupils and follow their children's schedules. By this method parents acquire a better understanding of their children's subjects and become better acquainted with the teachers. Afterwards refreshments are served in the cafeteria.

Mrs. Jean Fulk finally finds her son's classroom

Dear Mrs. Wampler,
The past years of my life have been just great, mainly because they were spent at good old B.H.S. <sup>First in Quality, Fairest in Prices, Fastest in Service</sup> You have been a part of these years and I want to thank you for all of the things you have done for me, especially the patience that you have had. If ever I need any ^{one} you to talk to after I get out of school
I know where I will come. Thanks for a very wonderful party after the play. That was really a great nite and I certainly enjoyed being in the play and working with
you. Best wishes
Love,

each other . . .

As time runs out . . .

Just as the time to play runs out in a football game, so also does the time to learn run out for a high school student. It is unfortunate indeed that many students fail to realize the timeliness of educational opportunities. Only a senior can fully experience the complete or partial disappointment for a wasted high school career. As a senior I can see that there was a time for learning but the time has run out; however, for all underclassmen the time is still running.

James W. Saulton, Jr.

Dear Mrs. Wampler -

I don't know how I could ever thank you enough for everything you've done for me during my five years at BHS. You have never failed to be a source of encouragement and inspiration.
